code meaning
All European patent applications are published as soon as possible after the expiry of a period of 18 months from the date of filing or, if priority has been claimed, as from the date of priority. At the request of the applicant it can be published before this period.
The publication contains the description, claims and drawings as filed, and in an annex the European search report and abstract provided this two latter are available before the termination of the preparation for publication, otherwise these are published separately.

This code refers to those cases where the search report is published separately after the "A2" publication.

With the publication of the search report starts the term of 6 months to request the substantive examination (see code EP P 17P).

The protection conferred by the publication of the European application is ruled by the national laws of the contracting states. However it may be not less than that which the laws of the state concerned attach to the compulsory publication of national applications. This protection may not be effective until a translation of the claims in one of the official languages of the concerning state has been submitted.

The publication date of the application corresponds in this case to the A2 publication.
