code meaning

Within 3 months after the amendment of a patent has been published in the European Patent Bulletin due to an opposition, a translation of the amended specification in French has to be made available to the INPI (see code EP P ET3).

According to the provision of art. 70(3)(4) EPC, the applicant or proprietor of the patent has the right to file a corrected translation of the European application or European patent in the event the application or patent in the language of the translation confers a narrower protection than that in the language of the proceedings. The corrected translation will be regarded as authentic (except for revocation proceedings).

This code refers to the submittion to the INPI of a corrected translation of the amended specification (after the patent has been amended due to an opposition procedure), event which is advertised in the “Bulletin Officiel de la Propriété Industrielle” under above-mentioned heading adding an asterisk before the EP publication number.

Any person who in good faith is using (or has made effective and serious preparations for using) an invention which does not constitute infringement of the patent in the original translation may continue such use without payment after the corrected translation has taken effect.
